

Louisiana Transportation Conference 2009

Louisiana Department of Transportation and Development (DOTD) and Louisiana Transportation Research Center sponsored the Louisiana Transportation Conference. It is a combination of professional Learning Sessions provided by industry experts and Industry Exhibits of new transportation technologies and products. The program provides abstract information and a schedule of 71 sessions, including six personal development courses, all of which qualify for professional development hours. The conference theme for this year was "Transportation Innovation: Solving Tomorrow's Challenges".

Gilchrist Construction Company was invited to participate in the Conference with the introduction of our Mobile Training Unit (MTU) to DOTD. Over 100 representatives from DOTD toured the bus and were impressed with its design and capabilities. We have discussed collaborating with DOTD to conduct job site classes in the future.

Attending the conference were Raymond Boniol, Bernie Sincavage, Bama Hinton and Dale Willis.
